

Dirty Water Management

Overview

Some dirty water would be treated to standards set out in environmental approvals and then released into local rivers and streams. Most dirty water would be recycled for use on site.

